1437	Rutgers Red Cross	Academic	Karen Ardizzone	rutgersredcross@g	Approximately 3-4 years, not exactly sure.	We have a Disaster Preparedness Event and a Speaker Series on Health, Preparedness and the Community	No (include explanation): We had planned for more speaker series dates and a higher attendance, but that was not achieved this year because most of the executive board is new and had to get accustomed to the responsibilities of leading the club. This upcoming semester, we have a lot planned and we will definitely use all the funds allocated to us. In addition to this, we oftentimes bought less food than we needed and this was the result of miscommunication on behalf of the board members.	Room Rental, food and supplies (utensils, plates, paper, markers). Nothing else besides that.	Food	No	No	No

320	Deep Treble	Community Service	Laura Christiansen	rudeeptreble@gm	Almost 20 years	None- other organization ended up paying for our combined winter concert as they could afford better sound equipment	No (include explanation): Since we decided to do a joint concert with Casual Harmony, they payed for sound and lighting because they could afford better equipment. We discussed paying them back with our advisor and she mentioned that it wouldn't make sense as it is allocated money and not directly from our general revenue	Nothing this semester, however we usually use all of our funds for lighting and sound equipment.	Sound and lighting equipment	No	No	No

Food at general interest meetings, food for fitness/nutrition classes, bake sales, t-shirts.	food for fitness/nutrition classes	No	No	No
137	Rutgers Hillel	Religious	Kerri Willson	studentboard@rutg	74 years	Rutgers Hillel used RUSA funding for an Israel Education Series, a Holiday Education Series, Hanukkah Ball, and Kasher Midknight Breakfast	Yes	Kasher food which costs more than other food, $4473 from Bistro70 plus another $2000 from other Kasher food items. The rest of the budget went to crafting supplies, laser tag de-stress event, and holiday decorations. Rutgers Hillel is lucky to have its own building so we do not have to pay for room rentals or set up.	As seen from the question before, most of our funding goes towards Kasher food at 99% of our events every week. This is because there are limited Kasher dining options on campus at Rutgers New Brunswick. Additionally, Kasher food is inherently more expensive due to the religious laws that must be followed in order to be deemed Kasher.	No	No	No

1475	She's the First Rutgers	Religious Cultural	Lori L. Smith	STFRutgers@gmail.com	5 years	BakeAChange, International Festival	No (include explanation): We needed less money for food and supplies (like decorating) than expected. We also were not charged to book the spaces, as we ended up not charging for admission to the events.	We used the money to buy food, pay for a speaker/microphone system for International Festival, order shirts, and buy supplies for baking for the BakeAChange bake sales.	We find most of our allocated funding going towards baking supplies for our fundraiser and food for events. However, next semester, we will have different events, so we expect to spend more on booking rooms/event spaces for larger scale events with ticket admission.	No	No	No
